

Heels on the runway

Liverpool John
Lennon Airport

With the World Cup the focus of attention, I'm delighted to report that summer has really kicked off here at Liverpool John Lennon Airport, with new routes and more airport improvements.

Scandinavian airline Widerøe announced it is to start operating a twice-weekly service to Bergen in Norway. The service will start on August 17 with departures on Mondays and Fridays, offering connections from Bergen to cities such as Oslo and Helsinki.

Bergen is Norway's second-largest city and also the gateway to the fjords. I am interested to talk to tour operators offering the fjords – please drop me an email!

Blue Air's newest flights from Liverpool to Malaga and Majorca have now started. These two routes were announced late last year as part of the airline's 2017 network expansion programme, which ended the year with 34 new route announcements!

HERE COMES THE SUN:
Agents enjoy airport day

With so many recent developments, our agent experience days at the airport have proven a hit, giving agents the chance to hear what's new and see our terminal improvements and the new brands on offer.

Thank you to all sponsors and attendees of our 'Here Comes the Sun' event! It was a fantastic night with a record number of 130 agents in attendance. Look out for the sequel later in the year...

Please log on to your trade portal to view the latest incentives, including fantastic offers in association with Super Break, Olympic Holidays, Thomas Cook and TUI. If you don't have a log-in, please register at liverpoolairport.com.

Ashley Louise Morgan, account manager, Liverpool John Lennon Airport
trade@liverpoolairport.com

 @ashmorgo  Liverpool Airport Trade

BERGEN: Twice-weekly flights will start on August 17

DUTY-FREE: New facility